

Table of Contents

Preface and Acknowledgements	Christopher Breu
Introduction Dark Passages	Christopher Breu and Elizabeth A. Hatmaker
Chapter 1 Towards Alphaville: Noir, Midcentury Communication, and the Management of Affect	Justus Nieland
Chapter 2 Public Violence as Private Pathology: Noir Affect in The End of a Primitive	Christopher Breu
Chapter 3 Cold Kink: Race and Sex in the African American Underworld	Kirin Watcher-Grene
Chapter 4 Noir Pedagogy: The Problem of Student Masochism in the Classroom Economy	Elizabeth A. Hatmaker
Chapter 5 The Shadows of the Twilight World: Bebo Brinker and the Circulation of Affect	Sean Grattan
Chapter 6 Noir Form, Noir Mediascape, Sociological Noir: Notes on Irruption, Mediation, Peripherality and Capitalism	Ignacio M. Sanchez Prado
Chapter 7 Cyborg Affect and the Power of the Post-Human in Ghost in the Shell(s)	Peter Hitchcock
Chapter 8 Playing with Negativity: Max Payne , Neoliberal Collapse, and the Bad Feelings of the Noir Video Game	Brian Rejack
Chapter 9 Chick Noir and Popular Narratives of Decline: Surveilling Femininity and the Affects of Loss in Gone Girl	Pamela Thoma
Chapter 10 Surplus Feelings: Nicolas Winding Refn's Neoliberal Noir and the Affective Economy of Debt	Alexander Dunst
Chapter 11 Capitalism as Affective Atmosphere: The Noir Worlds of Massimo Carlotto	Andrew Pepper
Afterword Melodrama, Noir's Kid Sister; or, Crying in Trump's America	Paula Rabinowitz